

Breaking the Mindset of the Swamp

And Embracing the Vista !!!

We should listen to our heart's desires as little children; they reveal the truest longings in our hearts. As a little itty bitty girl, we lived on 30 acres and had a couple ponies, therefore the ponies had made paths throughout the hill side. I loved to explore, uncover, and discover. I would slip away, with my dog, and travel the ponies' paths—in fact I had what I called “my secret path.” Everyone knew, but I still called it my secret. To this day, whenever I feel quite stressed, I want to run to the mountains—to the closest National Park, and find a path to “explore.” And the Lord allows me to do this, as well, through the writings He gives me. I never know when one begins where it will take me. He has taught me my life is best lived in a mindset of exploring, uncovering, and discovering.

On 1/14/2020, in a writing*, I took all my burdens to the Lord. There was health issues to address and I needed a new doctor. There were financial decisions that had to be made. I had concerns whether the website was complete and therefore I didn't need to add anymore. A tooth was “acting up” but I didn't know what to do because at that time I wasn't sure about KJU of NK and his “strategic weapon/Christmas gift” whether it was a good time to go to the Dentist or not. And there were other concerns as well. You see we had been ready for the crisis, but as you can see there were still issues that needed addressed. I was slipping back into my old “mindset” of overwhelming fear.

And this is the Lord's response: “.... I hear your questions. I sense your pain. There are decisions to be made that involves truth that you do not know. How do you continue down a path without knowing the facts needed to successively proceed? Debbie, if I were to tell you all you desire to know then there would be no room for you to discover. There would be no need to explore. You have done what you need to do. The website is as it should be. Your preparations are as they should be. To do My will requires you to not only look after the concerns of others, but of yourself. The threat looms, ready to pounce on the “unsuspecting.” Are you the “unsuspecting?” Take all you know to be true—the path is before you. I will open the doors that need opened and shut the doors that need shut. You hear My voice say— “Go this way and not that.” I will give you wisdom to take the steps you need to take. For you to fail, Debbie, means I have failed you. We have a tremendous work to do together. I will never leave you nor forsake you. Look for the doors to open. Look for the opportunities. It's not about facing each day with dread and hopelessness, it about uncovering and discovering what you don't know.”

It is so difficult when you are trying to “crack” through other's mindsets. One person's over powering/strong voice can cause another's voice to be silenced. It almost happened with this article, but “a meeting of the minds,” prevailed. You see, the first “mindset” that has to be broken is that of our own selfish self-centered addictive natures as found by reading “Deprogramming and Reprogramming our Hearts, Minds, and Souls” at this website. First we have to look at our own “self” nature and desire to be “better” - to have our “old ways” of living our lives “re-programmed.” Then we need to understand others. Our “mindsets” affect every decision we make and also how we receive others. And this is why I will continue to share at the website—to help folks “Get Ready” to embrace the Vista that is before us. By now we understand the crisis is coming. We Must Prepare.

So, I have already kicked off the New Year with “thought provoking” “Compassion,” emphasizing “Think First.” When we go back to the Israelites as slaves in Egypt, as they were beginning their journey into the wilderness, they took all that Egypt had to give – basically everything they needed to survive the journey. All the GOLD. All the SILVER. All the fine silks, the animals – anything and everything they loaded up and were so loaded down that they didn't gallop out of Egypt – they pretty much waddled out.

So, of course, I have a writing to share. It is about “Believe.” If you “Believe” something, you will take Action. The Lord has given me 7 points that begin with “You Believe...” (these were for me; I’ll share with you.) From 11/7/2019: “...You believe that you and I can have a relationship—the Creator and the creation, but do they? You believe that the Creator and the creation can have a friendship, but do they? You believe that you can reach to a place far above the clouds, called Home, but do they? You believe that difficulties will come to your nation and I will turn around these difficulties for the good of My Kingdom, but do they? You believe that one person is important in My Kingdom, but do they? You believe that above all else, I Love You, can they say the same? You believe that whatsoever comes, I will allow it, do they? The steps you have taken were taken due to your belief. Let My love consume you—not fear.”

So we have shared, in 2019, what we believe is coming: what, where, why, how, who, and even where we are headed “The New Day,” - “The Vista” and for that we must PREPARE. Yet, I can see folks not taking action. It is the mindset that has to be broken through; we must become “crisis thinkers.” So what can we learn from the Israelites leaving Egypt? We must take out of the world what we need and have it ready to be used for God’s Kingdom. What do you mean? If there is a crisis, the retirement account will no longer be, as well as any bank accounts, as well as any finances that are on paper; it will be gone. As “crisis thinkers,” folks can reduce/eliminate their luxury type items – expensive/excessive cable bills, phone/data plans, etc. and use that money to prepare. There is also money from birthdays, raises, bonuses, and tax returns—even vacations. We have, as the Lord has said “made the sacrifices;” we invested in some gold and silver, but mainly in solar panels and a fall-out shelter, and built up our storehouses and what you find in “Practical Prepping God’s Way” at this website. As a “crisis thinker, my goal, especially, is not to suffer/ not having a need after the crisis that I didn’t take care of because the money was in an account I will never see again after a crisis. We truly trust the Lord when He says that we will be in our house, in our shelter, under His care, at the time of the crisis and then we will be ready to do His will – to share Hope with others as He has shown us. If we are “crisis thinkers,” we must consider changing from paying double payments on mortgages and credit cards and consider paying minimum payments and using the cash to prepare. We have been given this time. But it truly takes thinking a different way than we have been programmed; it takes a change in “mindset.” If we wait until after the crisis, good luck with finding what you need – and you won’t be the only one looking – it won’t be safe. We never, ever put our home in jeopardy by taking more than we can pay back; we just gather in what is already available and put it in our care and do with it what we need for God’s Kingdom. We don’t know when the crisis will happen, but God does and if we ask, He will direct and guide us and help us find what we need to prepare. We have been so programmed to be a nation of individuals that are so independent, but that is not God’s way – He desires for us to seek Him in everything we do – not a dependence on Him that leaves us captive/paralyzed in fear, but hearing His voice and choosing to follow Him, knowing that He knows much better how to help us than we know how to help ourselves and in turn His Kingdom flourishes. Again, as in the 1/14/2020 writing: “... I will open the doors that need opened and shut the doors that need shut. You hear my voice say— “Go this way and not that.” I will give you wisdom to take the steps you need to take.”
