

“My People are like Diamonds in the Rough”

Today is October 20, 2019. In the news this week, we have seen things that are very disturbing. The talks, this time in Sweden, with the North Korean leaders have collapsed once again* and we see the Turkish leader moving troops into Northern Syria. There is much to be in prayer about. But we also know we have been shown difficulties will come and we are to be prepared for such a time as this.

From a portion of the writing (received from the Lord through the Holy Spirit,) dated 1/14/2011, the year I was shown “Home:” “You know of Home, now. .... As you enter under the Great Chandelier, look at each prism of light; diamonds reflecting light from one to another. Each one catching tiny light beams as/like fire burns from one ember to ignite an entire forest. Where does the light source originate? There are no cords or outlets as you are accustomed to seeing. How can there be light without a source of power? In My world, there cannot, but I’m the One who creates the power; the power emanates from Me and is caught by the diamonds. As you gaze at the diamonds, you will see the light is generated as they reflect the power that emanates from Me. It is a perfect reflection for their sides are smooth and pure without blemish or encumbrance. This is the way man’s heart has been created. But due to pain, bitterness and deception, man’s heart has become hidden and shadowed. My power is not able to be reflected. When it is caught , it is skewed by traditions, by strongholds/defenses/addictions/deceptions. What was sent/given as pure and meant for the good of My Kingdom, is distorted and used in a way never meant to be. I have sought to limit what I very much desire to give My people.

What does a man gain if he gains the whole world but loses his soul? My people are content with what they gain by holding onto the world. They trudge through muck and mire yet they seek not to find the treasure found by only those who seek Me. They say they want My power to fall on them yet they have ceased to discover what you have sought to find. They say they know what I want yet they never seek to ask. They continue with their hearts covered in layer upon layer of deception, believing what others share with them, never seeking Me to know Me. This is the way of the masses. I have so much to give them, to ignite each one as My power ignites the diamonds on the Chandelier, bringing forth beams of light. My people are like diamonds in the rough. They are encrusted; coated in deception—layer upon layer. A diamond is sanded and polished to remove that which keeps it from beaming brilliance; that which keeps it from being that which it was created to be.

When life as lived it ceases, reality/truth will remove the deception; all that has become encrusted will be washed away by the tremendous flood of reality. The purpose, the schedules, the things once thought most important; that which fed the deception and that hid the truth will no longer have a place. What was thought insignificant will become of greatest importance; that which was even taken for granted. Materialism and Prosperity will be replaced with Compassion and pain and loss. Yet life will continue — hearts broken and filled with fear. ....”

* From this website: “The Approaching Horses ...” and “Hope, Treasure and Josiah,” page 4, from a portion of a writing dated: 8/18/18: “... The riders (world leaders) will mount up their horses once more, having been unable to meet the terms of another. This time there will be no stopping. (I added—Keep a watchful eye out for North Korea.)”

A portion of a latest writing from the Lord through the Holy Spirit dated 10/15/2019: “Do you hear me, Debbie? Do you hear me? Do you really, really hear Me, Debbie? It is with a heart filled to overflowing with Hope that can embrace all you receive and share. Today, as you know is a day of Remembrance. It’s one day in a small number of days set aside each year for My people to remember My love for them as I cared for them in their time in the Wilderness, after they were set free from the captivity of Egypt.

How many in your nation realize that this and other days, the appointment times, are set aside for My people to remember and focus on My love for them and their love for Me? How many of those who say they love Me are aware of what is important to Me? They ask that I bless them and that I bless them and bless them, but do they know the importance of understanding what I have shown is important to Me? How can you see the blessings, if you first never see the need? How can you receive the miracles if first you are not in need of the miracle? If you are filled with prosperity—wealth, health and fame, then what is there to be added—you are filled with your cup overflowing.

.... My people perish because they know not My ways. They seek to have their cups filled overflowing with blessings and with miracles, but they have yet to understand they first must have a need. .... What do most of My children see? Convenience and Pleasure and that is what they fill their cups to overflowing with. All that you have gathered, they have the ability to do the same. But when one’s cup is full and overflowing with Convenience and Pleasure, that is all you seek—your eyes blind, you cannot hear, and all you need to be gathering and preparing are just not necessary—your cup is filled, overflowing with blessings.

Do they know of the Wilderness journey? Do they know of My ways? Do they know of the evil that waits to pounce like a lion and cause their cups full with Convenience and Pleasure to be poured out and left empty? Do they know? ....”

After I received and then reviewed this writing, it was as if I could envision a blind beggar on the street with his arm outstretched and in his hand a cup. He only wanted convenience and pleasure put in his cup—convenience and pleasure filled to overflowing—he had no cup for Hope, overflowing. What happens to him when the difficulties come and his cup is emptied. To fill one’s cup with overflowing Hope, one must prepare physically by gathering in and preparing, mentally, emotionally, but above all, seek the Lord (to know Him) with one’s whole heart, mind and soul.

Thank you for letting me share.
