

WHAT ABOUT THE # ELEVEN?
CAN NUMBERS REVEAL HIDDEN TREASURE TO US?

So, what about the # 11? We have just entered into the 11th month of 2020. In his book, Numbers that Preach,* Troy Brewer writes that “the Number Eleven (In the Positive - Heroes Rising. In the Negative - Disorder.)” He goes on to add, “It means disintegration or things falling apart.” Will this be true as the results of the election come forth? Will it bring Disorder?

From a writing from the Lord through the Holy Spirit dated 11/11/2011: “... Listen, Listen, Listen with your ears ready to receive what you have never heard before. Far, far, far in the distance, see what you have never seen before. Sense with all your senses - be immersed as you have never been before. What you think you know is what I have shown you. You have tasted what others have never tasted. You have heard what others have not heard. You have seen places - images planted in your mind that others have never seen. Far, far, far in the distance you have experienced what few even know exists.

What causes someone to endure great suffering for My sake; a love they can't ignore or deny? They know of places far, far, far in the distance because like you, the images are etched in their hearts; they cannot ignore or deny. Their hope of their life in Heaven is far greater than any suffering they endure on this planet. As painful and difficult as it is, they choose suffering rather than deny their love for their Savior. Without their Savior, their All-in-All, what do they have?

Who will give them peace in the midst of their hardship? Who will be by their side when they are in isolation/seclusion? Who watches over the ones they love? Who helps them see what they cannot? To deny their Savior means they choose to journey the path alone. As a person on the planet, the world continually tries to pull you and My other children away from me, their Savior. The person who is imprisoned knows they need a Savior.

But those who are in bondage to the world system don't even know they are imprisoned and most, neither, need a Savior. As they journey down the path, they will embrace the world system as their Savior and in doing so will ignore all their Savior has for them. Of the two, which is suffering the most? The Christian imprisoned for My name sake because they have seen and experienced what few have and therefore cannot deny or ignore their Savior? Or, the Christian who is in bondage to the world system who knows not of their Savior — only knows of Him.” (Debbie adds: an example of the Positive -“Heroes Rising” as per Troy Brewer's definition above received on 11/11/11.)

Since it is now November, we can evaluate whether what Pastor Dana Coverstone shared in his YouTube Video of his October dream is coming true? This is entirely based on my own speculation; please pray the Lord gives you wisdom in this matter: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=GTtXEncbLEo> Pastor Coverstone indicates that something happens in the 2nd and 3rd week of October (a rock drops into a pond and sets off ripples that become “vicious” waves.) Perhaps this is the confirmation and appointment of Amy Coney Barrett to the Supreme Court which causes the “heads to explode.” Of course there is the possibility of the Supreme Court having to make a ruling regarding the election and there is another potential “explosion/head's exploding” coming when a potential ruling comes out regarding “Fulton vs. City of Philadelphia,” regarding Catholic Social Services being required to accept same-sex couples as foster parents, to be heard in early November. These decisions will all be connected to our newest Supreme Court Judge. These are only my speculations, but it is something that we are watching. The Eleventh month of 2020 seems to have a great potential for chaos, disorder, and potential riots. But, it has the potential for some “Heroes Rising” as well. God Bless You!
